Stabler black walnut. This famous thin shelled, easy cracking nut is quite a wonder

THE AMERICAN BLACK WALNUT

FOR THOMAS VARIETY NOTICE PAGES 4 TO 9
AND 15 IN MY CATALOG

STABLER—We certainly are delighted to announce that we can supply this most wonderful variety. It is the thinnest shelled walnut that we have. The kernel is of a waxy-like texture with a rich mellow flavor. Far superior to the common seedling kernel, many of these nuts have no middle partition and the kernel drops out whole. The tree is a low spreading grower with an ornamental foliage known to no other variety of the black walnut family, and an early bearer. I have heard people say that T. P. Littlepage's setting was the most beautiful sight they ever beheld.

For more information consult Catalog, pages 8, 9.

OHIO—Best cracker next to Stabler. Nut a little larger than the Stabler with a nearly white kernel. Not so rich in oil as the Stabler. Will keep over a year in nice condition. Tree is an upright and spreading grower with a very pleasing characteristic foliage. Everybody should plant some Ohio when planting a nut grove.

Nuts with the quality of these palatable meats will be in strong demand after they are introduced

DEMING PURPLE BLACK

The parent tree stands in New England and was first noticed because of its ornamental foliage. Tree, a rapid grower or nearly as rapid as the Thomas. Foliage very ornamental, being a pretty reddish purple when the leaves first unfold, slowly turning to a slate color. The sap wood also has a peculiar slate color and may be of some extra value for lumber, because of this trait. The nut is said to be a fair cracker but is quite an oddity because of its penicil (skin of kernel) being a slate color like the wood and mature leaves.

HICANS

McALLISTER—For several decades the McAllister hican was thought to be a fizzle but bearing trees that fill their nuts have proven the contrary to be the case. We believe this to be the largest nut grown of either the pecan or hickory family. The tree has a wide spreading growth with a foliage resembling the pecan. Truly it is one of the most ornamental deciduous trees in America. Nut measures $2\frac{1}{4}$ x $1\frac{1}{4}$ and $3\frac{7}{8}$ in circumference. Nearly as thin shelled as the pecan. Kernel, full and plump with a flavor like the grand old shellbark. We have a limited quantity of these, strong nursery size, \$10.00 each. \$90.00 per 10.

One of the north's leading nuts

HICKORIES

We have a nice lot of the best hybrids grafted this year and will be able to supply a small demand. The hickory is the most respected tree in America. Because of the family sentiment connected with so many of these trees it can be truly called "the tree of the American family." Wherever they are set their tall, narrow, column-like heads are a pleasing attraction.

These hybrids that bear in 7 to 10 years and last for centuries should be set on every home grounds. We hope to be able to supply enough in the future for grove planting.

Varieties—Fairbanks which I consider the best. Laney a fine cracker but does not keep over year. Beaver a thin shelled nut of fine quality.

Strong 4-5 ft. trees$5.00 each

HEARTNUTS

Bates and Faust. This is J. Cordiformis, a sport of the Jap. walnut (J. Seiboldiana), and one of the easiest cracking nuts we have. Kernel a soft mellow richness with a slight inflection of butternut flavor. Tree, a most rapid grower with a semi-tropical foliage. Comes into bearing in 3 to 5 years. Makes a very handsome lawn specimen. This species has been keeping propagators at their wits' end to successfully propagate them. We have a very few to offer this year. We suggest that you place your order to be filled when we can supply the trees, if our supply is exhausted when you order. $5.00 each.

SOUTHERN PECANS

We have been receiving inquiries in the past from our southern customers for southern varieties of pecans. Therefore, we have arranged with a southern nursery of the highest repute to fill orders for us and hope this will be satisfactory. We advise that all such orders will be shipped from the southern nursery to the planter. Pecans cannot stand handling and being jobbed around from dealer to dealer, and for this reason we believe that the above policy will give you the best service. For planting along the northern border of the southern Pecan area, the earliest maturing variety is essential, we advise the Stuart. For farther south, any of the other varieties herein listed may be planted. The Schley is considered the best flavored and is of fine cracking quality. The Nelson being the largest. The other varieties are profitable and of high merit also.

We only offer these few leading varieties.

Stuart, Schley, Frotscher, Moneymaker, Success, Pabst, Moore and Nelson.
